1 Read - Lectio:

Read the passage. Ask: What does the text say in and of itself? Utilize the points of reflection to better understand the passage. Note: Catechism quotes are intended to be read silently and used to support a fuller understanding of the passage

2 Meditate - Meditatio:

Reflect on the words chosen and their meaning in the passage. Ask: What is the Biblical text saying to me? Use the points of Meditation to assist you in seeing how the Lord is speaking to your life through this passage.

3 Pray - Oratio:

Respond in prayer to the passage and the fruit of the meditatio. Ask: What do I say to the Lord in response to this passage?

4 Contemplate - Contemplatio:

Rest and rejoice in this gift from God and be transformed by the new reality that you have been opened to. Ask: What is the Lord asking of me? What do I need to let go of? What do I need to embrace?

Praying with Scripture is deeply rooted in our Catholic tradition. Every Christian knows that it is “good” to pray and that it is “good” to read the Bible, but we almost always get stuck on the question of method, “How should we do this?”. Thankfully, the Church has passed down her favorite prayer practices through the generations and the methods of our father are available for us today. Lectio Divina is a method with which Christians have been prayerfully engaging the Scriptures that is at least 1000 years old. In short, the practice merges the reading of Scripture with the prayer of the one reading it in order to foster a dialogue and encounter with the living God.

Why should we engage Sacred Scripture in this way?

There are many reasons why practicing Lectio Divina should be a normal part of a Christian's life. To begin with, we believe that the Bible is the Word of God. This means that God literally speaks through the Bible. The Catechism teaches,

“In Sacred Scripture, the Church constantly finds her nourishment and her strength, for she welcomes it not as a human word, “but as what it really is, the word of God”<sup>1</sup> “In the sacred books, the Father who is in heaven comes lovingly to meet his children, and talks with them.”<sup>2</sup> CCC 104

Practicing Lectio Divina teaches us how to hear the voice of God and opens us to the life-giving mysteries contained in His Word. Truly, the Scriptures are an endless fountain of wisdom and joy. A lifetime of scholarship would not nearly exhaust their depths. Yet they are not the only way in which God speaks to His people.

The words of the Mass, and other liturgical Rites are both sacred and revealing. In a similar way, since

God is Creator of Heaven and Earth, Male and Female, and all things completely, He reveals Himself through creation as well. The goal of Lectio Divina is primarily to come to an intimate encounter and knowledge of Jesus Christ, His Father, and the Holy Spirit.

At the same time, in coming to know what God sounds like, the practice of Lectio Divina opens our horizons and enables us to hear His voice and see His face in the Mass, the sacraments, our human relationships and all of creation. In this sense, the prayerful reading of Sacred Scripture acts as the gateway to a new Eden, where man once again lives in the conscious presence of his Maker and Savior.

SACRAMENTS THROUGH SCRIPTURE: A STILL SMALL VOICE

Baptism: Session 1

OPENING PRAYER

Heavenly Father, we are mindful that we are always in your presence. Jesus, we know you are here and that you love us. Thank you, Lord, that we belong to you. Thank you, Lord, that you want to speak to our hearts today in Scripture. Come Holy Spirit; open our hearts to the truth of your word as we read the Gospel of Matthew. Show us what you want us to see in this passage.

READING/READ/LECTIO:

Read the passage aloud or ask someone in the class to read the passage. Have someone read the passage again.

Matthew 3:13-4:1 - Then Jesus came from Galilee to John at the Jordan to be baptized by him. John tried to prevent him, saying, "I need to be baptized by you, and yet you are coming to me?" Jesus said to him in reply, "Allow it now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness." Then he allowed him. After Jesus was baptized, he came up from the water and behold, the heavens were opened [for him], and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove [and] coming upon him. And a voice came from the heavens, saying, "This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased.”

Then Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert to be tempted by the devil.
